BE Projects

Name : "Offline Web Server Using IVR"

Year : 2012-13 SEM VIII

Description : With the increased awareness among people for the literacy, many schools and colleges have emerged and in order to stream line the students, the respective boards have laid a constraint on attendance. But when taken into consideration, the undergraduate colleges that have been affiliated to a university to maintain the attendance for all colleges. At the same time it is difficult for the colleges to maintain the attendance of all students who belong to various branches and years. Moreover, processing the attendance that includes calculation of overall percentages and subject wise percentages is very tedious and difficult task. To overcome this, it is better for university to maintain an online attendance system for each college. The college may also implement this system for inputting attendance of various branches and various years. So, we here present an online attendance system. In this we used PDA devices for entering the attendance and IVR technology to enter and maintain the attendance database.
